

Developmental Disability WA

Becoming a Member

Completing the form on page 3 means you want to become a member of Developmental Disability WA (DDWA).

What is DDWA?

DDWA is an organisation that supports people with developmental disabilities, their families and carers.

Organisation means a group of people who work together.

You can find more information about DDWA on our website at www.ddwa.org.au

Membership means you are part of a group of people who are interested in the things DDWA does, and you can have your say.

Being a member gives you access to

- Information
- Invitations to workshops and discussion groups
- Advocacy - An advocate can help you speak up for your rights.
- Connection to a community group of people who want action on similar issues.

- You can also vote at our Annual General Meeting and have your say on other issues.
